Is there a minimum group size for free travel?

Sinem charges no travel fee for at-home styling, including when you book just for yourself. The number of people still matters for scheduling and for the price of the styling services you choose.

You can enquire for just one person

If you live alone and only want a party hairstyle, you do not need a neighbour or relative to join the booking to avoid travel costs. Enquire with your own service and address.